

Winter Tale – story idea

The idea

There is a penguin standing on ice in the middle of nowhere, feeling alone and lost. He notices another penguin standing not so far away. However, they are divided by freezing water and a floe. There are three choices for the penguin to make:

- 1) Trying to jump over the water, which resolves in the penguin falling into the water, since it cannot jump that far.
- 2) Using the floe between the icebergs to get to the other side. The penguin slips after landing on the floe and falls into the water.
- 3) Calling for help and riding on polar bear's back to get to the second penguin and hugging each other.

Message

“Even in the most desolate places we are not alone.”

“It is possible to achieve more by allowing others to help us.”

“Failing is the first step to success”

Mood

Gloomy/nostalgic due to dark saturated colors.

Hopeful, since there is a change for the penguins to meet.

Heartwarming, since the polar bear help the penguin.

Playful thanks to more options for the ending.
